

ABSTRACT

A method for analyzing a plurality of amino acids in a fluid sample by a user is provided comprising the steps of introducing the sample into a buffer solution, passing the sample in the buffer solution through a separation column and setting a lithium ion concentration in the buffer to no more than 0.3 mols/L up to a time before β -aminoisobutyric acid (β -AiBA) is eluted.

09079155-064304
FOET90-59164860